Partnership with the Art Fund

By 2015 £7 million had been allocated to assist museums and galleries to purchase works of art through the partnership with the Art Fund. Examples include Pietro Lorenzetti's Christ between Saints Paul and Peter, circa 1320, by the Ferens Art Gallery, Hull, and Giovanni Paolo Panini's The Lottery in Piazza di Montecitorio, Rome, 1747, by the National Gallery.

1980s

Funding programme in preventive medicine

Sir Raymond ('Bill') Hoffenberg (1923-2007), physician and Trustee of the Wolfson Foundation. He was particularly influential as the Foundation increased its spending on biomedical research in the 1980s, with a targeted focus on preventive medicine during the late 1980s.

The Princess Royal later opened the Wolfson Institute of Preventive Medicine and is pictured here greeting the Laboratory Managers, accompanied by the Chairman of the Institute, Professor Nicholas Wald.
